

Exploitation Kit (PD-EKK-01)

Positive solutions
for complex requirements

The Proton Dynamics PD-EKK-01 is a comprehensive, field-ready exploitation kit designed to support forensic examination and the identification, collection, preservation and documentation of evidentiary material. Assembled using carefully selected commercial off-the-shelf components, the kit provides practical capability for fingerprint development and recovery, biological sample collection, gunshot residue collection, impression casting and evidence packaging. The kit can be customised to suit specific operational requirements, with individual components and consumables available separately for replenishment and ongoing readiness.
